

Terms and Conditions for Basic versions

1. The VecTor Analysis Group hereby grants you a non-transferable license to use the material provided in accordance with these Terms and Conditions. You may not sublicense, assign, redistribute, lend, give, or transfer this License in any way.
2. The VecTor Analysis Software is for personal and educational use only and is not to be used for commercial purposes unless authorized by the VecTor Analysis Group.
3. The user acknowledges that reverse engineering, decompiling, disassembling, or attempting to discover the source code or underlying ideas or algorithms of the Software or any subsequent version is strictly prohibited. Modifications, translations and derivative works are also not allowed.
4. The user understands that in no event shall the VecTor Analysis Group or its employees be liable for damages to or through you, any end user, or any other person or entity for breach of, arising under, or related to this agreement or the software or service provided hereunder, under any theory including, but not limited to, direct, special, incidental, indirect, consequential, or similar damages (including without limitation, damages for loss of business profits, business interruption, loss of business information or data, or any other loss) whether foreseeable or not, regardless of the form of action, whether in contract, tort (including negligence), strict liability or otherwise.
5. The VecTor Analysis Group assumes no responsibility for the accuracy or numerical stability of the programs, or for their proper application.
6. No software support is provided by the VecTor Analysis Group (VAG) for basic versions of the programs.
7. All materials are forwarded electronically. No documentation exists beyond that currently available on the website (<http://www.civ.utoronto.ca/vector>)