

Terms and Conditions for Analysis Programs: Commercial versions

1. Purchase of a VecTor Analysis Group (VAG) program entitles the purchaser to a non-transferable license to use the material provided in accordance with these Terms and Conditions. You may not sublicense, assign, redistribute, lend, give, or transfer this License in any way.
2. The user acknowledges that reverse engineering, decompiling, disassembling, or attempting to discover the source code or underlying ideas or algorithms of the Software or any subsequent version is strictly prohibited. Modifications, translations and derivative works are also not allowed.
3. The user understands that in no event shall the VecTor Analysis Group or its employees be liable for damages to or through you, any end user, or any other person or entity for breach of, arising under, or related to this agreement or the software or service provided hereunder, under any theory including, but not limited to, direct, special, incidental, indirect, consequential, or similar damages (including without limitation, damages for loss of business profits, business interruption, loss of business information or data, or any other loss) whether foreseeable or not, regardless of the form of action, whether in contract, tort (including negligence), strict liability or otherwise.
4. VAG assumes no responsibility for the accuracy or numerical stability of the programs, or for their proper application.
5. Programs are not to be sold or given to a third party without consent from VAG
6. All materials will be forwarded electronically. No documentation exists beyond that currently available on the website. (<http://www.civ.utoronto.ca/vector/>)
7. The purchaser is entitled to free upgrades in software or documentation, should they become available, within a 12 month period from date of purchase.
8. The purchaser is entitled to 1 hour free software support for the VAG programs purchased.